Section 2. The Central Committee shall have the power to further the objectives of the County Party in accordance with these Bylaws through all legal means, including the solicitation and expenditure of funds.

Section 3. Individuals, officers, and other organizations have no power to make expenditures or incur liabilities on behalf of the County Party or the Central Committee without the prior authorization of the Central Committee. Unauthorized expenses and liabilities shall be the sole responsibility of the persons who incurred them.

Section 4: The Central Committee shall not authorize any expenditure or contribution payable to any entity in which a Member or a Member's spouse, parent, sibling, or child, has a financial interest or acts as a director or officer, except by the concurrence of two-thirds of those present and voting. Every Member of the Central Committee shall be obligated to disclose such potential conflicts of interest prior to the vote to authorize the expenditure of funds and shall abstain from voting when such a potential conflict exists. Where a payment is a reimbursement for a documented and verifiable expenditure that was properly authorized by the Central Committee, the Member to be reimbursed shall abstain from voting, but otherwise this section shall not apply.

Article III. Membership & Dues

Section 1. All Republicans who are legally registered to vote in Placer County shall be members of the County Party.

Section 2. The members of the Central Committee (collectively referred to as "Members") are divided into the following four categories:

- (a) Regular Members are those persons elected to the Central Committee by the voters in the presidential primary election for the Republican Party, or those persons elected by the Central Committee to fill their vacancies.

(b) Ex-Officio Members are:

1. Those persons entitled to be a member of the Central Committee under provisions of the California Election Code; and
2. Registered Republican candidates for U.S. Senate and statewide offices specified in Article 5 of the California Constitution, who have advanced to the general election unopposed or opposed by a non-Republican, if they reside in Placer County.
 - i. In the event there are two Republican candidates contesting the General Election and one of them is the current officeholder or Ex-Officio Member, the current officeholder or Ex-Officio Member remains the Ex-Officio Member for that seat until the results of the General Election are certified;
 - ii. In the event where no Republican advances to the General Election, then the Republican obtaining the most votes in the certified Primary Election results would be deemed the Ex-Officio Member.
 - iii. In the event there are two Republican candidates contesting the General Election and neither one of them is the current officeholder who is a Republican, then the current Republican officeholder remains the Ex-Officio Member until the results of the General Election are certified.
 - iv. In the event where two Republican candidates advance to the General election and the current officeholder is a non-Republican, or if the office is vacant, neither candidate shall become an Ex-Officio Member until the results of the General Election are certified.

Ex-Officio Members and, except as otherwise provided in section (c), their Alternates shall enjoy all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of Regular Members.

(c) Alternate Members (“Alternates”) shall be defined as those persons appointed as voting members to the Central Committee by Regular or Ex-Officio Members. Alternates shall enjoy all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of Regular Members, although they may not vote at Central Committee meetings unless their appointers are absent.

(d) Associate Members (“Associates”) shall be defined as non-voting, dues-paying members actively contributing to the Placer County Republican Party. Each Associate must be a registered Republican voter and must be appointed in writing.

Section 3. Seven Regular Members shall be elected from each Supervisorial District in Placer County, for a total of thirty-five Regular Members.

Section 4. Each Regular or Ex-Officio Member may appoint one Alternate to represent him or her and to vote in his or her absence. Each Alternate appointed by a Regular Member must reside in the same Supervisorial District as the appointer. Each Alternate appointed by an Ex Officio Member must reside in the appointer’s district, except for an Alternate appointed by an incumbent Assemblymember, Senator, or Representative. All Alternates must be members of the County Party. Alternates must be appointed in writing. Alternates shall enjoy all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of Regular Members, except that they shall have no right to vote at Central Committee meetings except when their appointers are absent. Alternates may be removed in writing at any time by their appointers. When an Alternate is replaced or removed, or when the appointer departs the Central Committee, the Alternate shall thereby become an Associate. Alternates removed by a vote of the Central Committee shall not become Associates and they shall not be eligible for re-appointment during the remainder of the term of office.

Section 5. Each Regular Member and Ex-Officio Member shall be entitled to appoint registered Republicans as Associates. The Central Committee may reject the appointment of a new Associate by a two-thirds vote at any meeting within one year after the appointment. Associates shall enjoy all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of Regular Members, including the right to hold office and participate in discussion, but they shall not vote at Central Committee meetings. Appointments shall be made in writing. There shall be no limit as to the number of Associates and they may continue in office from term to term, without the need for re appointment, so long as they remain registered to vote as Republicans, pay their dues in a timely manner, comply with these Bylaws, and notify the Secretary of changes to their contact information.

Section 6. Dues for all Members of the Central Committee May be set by resolution of the Central Committee. No increase in dues shall become effective until January 1 of the calendar year subsequent to the action authorizing the same. Dues are payable upon assuming office and on January 31 in subsequent years. Associates are not Members until their dues are paid. Dues are voluntary for Regular Members, Ex-Officio Members, and Alternates, but the Central Committee may limit certain discounts, incentives, and special privileges to dues-paying Members. Dues shall be paid to the Temporary Secretary at the organizing meeting. After that meeting, dues shall be paid to the Treasurer.

Section 7. While the Central Committee is a volunteer organization, no Member shall directly use membership in the Central Committee for personal financial gain. Just as all publicly elected official must strictly adhere to common sense conflict of interest guidelines in their public deliberations and decisions, all Central Committee Members must disclose to the Central Committee any possible conflict of interest, ask for a majority ruling from the Central Committee as to whether a conflict of interest exist, and if the majority votes that there is a conflict then said Member must recuse himself or herself from all discussions, deliberations and voting on the matter or related matters.

Section 1. These Bylaws may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the Members voting at any meeting of the Central Committee.

Only germane amendments may be accepted by the Central Committee without providing additional notice. Members shall have the right to waive notice of proposed amendments, and those present at a meeting who fail to object to insufficient notice prior to the vote to adopt an amendment shall be deemed to have waived notice.

Standing Rule 1. Endorsed Candidates

If a candidate wants the endorsement of the Placer County Republican Party (PCRP), the candidate must NOT endorse any non-Republican candidate who is running against a Republican candidate endorsed by the PCRP. If the PCRP endorses a Republican candidate in any race, the endorsed candidate must rescind any previous endorsements of non-Republican candidates.

For purposes of this rule, "endorsement" includes, but is not limited to, written or verbal advocacy, financial assistance, in-kind contributions, production and distribution of campaign literature, and public actions that reasonably imply an endorsement, such as displaying a yard sign or bumper sticker. This rule applies to partisan offices and to those "nonpartisan offices" in which the PCRP has endorsed a Republican candidate.

If the PCRP has endorsed a candidate and that candidate endorses a non-Republican candidate who is running against a Republican candidate endorsed by the PCRP, the candidate will be notified that his or her endorsement is in jeopardy and that it may be revoked. The Placer County Republican Party Executive Committee OR Central Committee will then have full discretion to revoke the endorsement by majority vote at any meeting. If a candidate is unendorsed in this manner, the candidate will have 48 hours after notification to remove all references to the PCRP from all forms of advertisement and campaign literature.
